The
Black Horse
Country Pub and Restaurant

The Inn is reputed to be the second oldest working tavern in the UK and holds the longest unbroken drinks license in the county.

The Inn still has plenty of country and rustic charm with its low ceilings and open fires. Inside there are two drinking areas as well as a beer garden with tables overlooking the River and you can choose to eat or drink anywhere you wish.

The Black Horse is well known for its excellent food and well kept ales and is well worth a visit, you may even see the resident ghost on one of its frequent manifestations!
