Thomas Bewick the well known wood engraver attended school in Ovingham from 1763 to 1767. It has been stated that when he was a scholar he had never "heard of the word drawing, nor did I know of any other paintings, besides the King's Arms in the church and the signs of the Black Bull, the White House, the Salmon and the Hounds and Hare"

By the age of 14 Thomas was an apprentice to Ralph Belby an engraver from Newcastle and became experienced at cutting blocks for printing from boxwood. Thomas Bewick became one of the finest artists in this particular skill, an illustrator of natural history and illustrated children's books. On November 8th 1828, Thomas died at the age of 75, he is buried next to his wife Isabella, in the Ovingham churchyard.
